WeRateDogs
An Analysis through Visualizations

Who or What is WeRateDogs?

Well, if the name isn't explanatory enough, worry not! We are here to get rid of any queries you may have about Twitter's most popular account dedicated to man's(and women's and children's, in fact everyone's) best friend, Dogs.
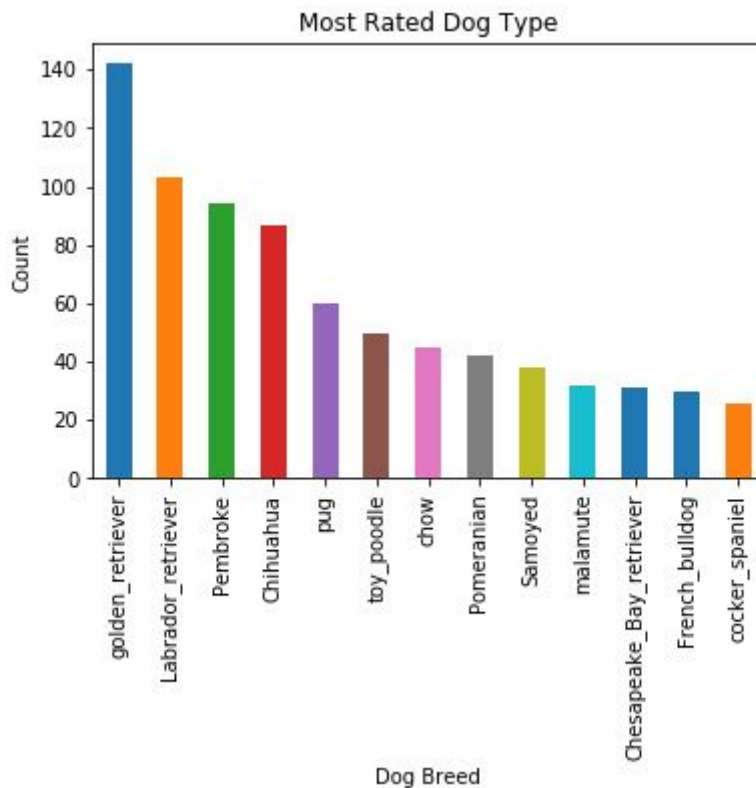

With 8.8 million followers, WeRateDogs has become a wholesome fan club of dog lovers all around the globe with users tweeting pictures of their dogs for the account to rate them.

The rating is given out of 10 (as a denominator) but the rating given is always greater than 10 because our furry friends deserve nothing less. The rating is also complimented by a funny/cheeky/lovable comment about the dog being rated.

With so many users sharing images of so many dogs and all of them being rated, it's only fair to get curious about the results. Like which type of dogs are most popular? Or how do higher rated dog fare against not so higher rated dogs?

Here are some answers to such questions:

Which Dog breed is the most popular?

Most Rated Dog Type

 After analyzing nearly 2000+ tweets, its safe to say that the most popular dog breed on twitter is the Golden Retriever with more than 140 ratings, followed by Labrador Retriever, Pembroke and so on.

Which breed has the lowest average rating?

Even though nobody wants to give a dog, low rating, the numbers work that way. One Japanese Spaniel is heckin' bamboozled by this rating.

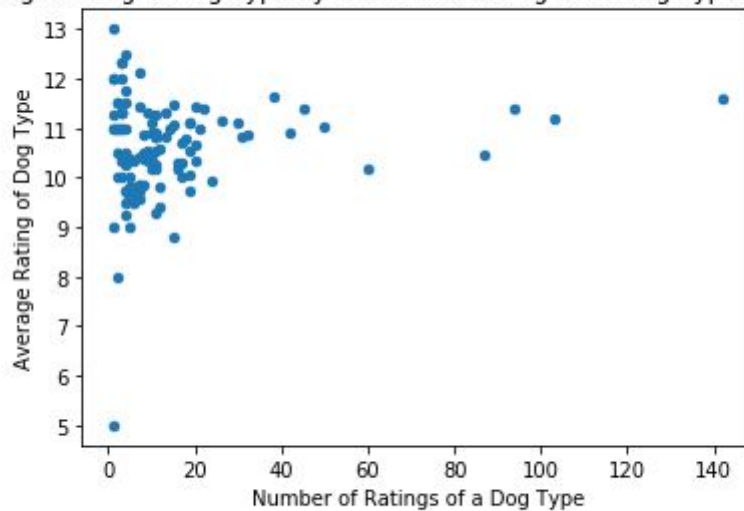

But 19/10 we support Juckson!!
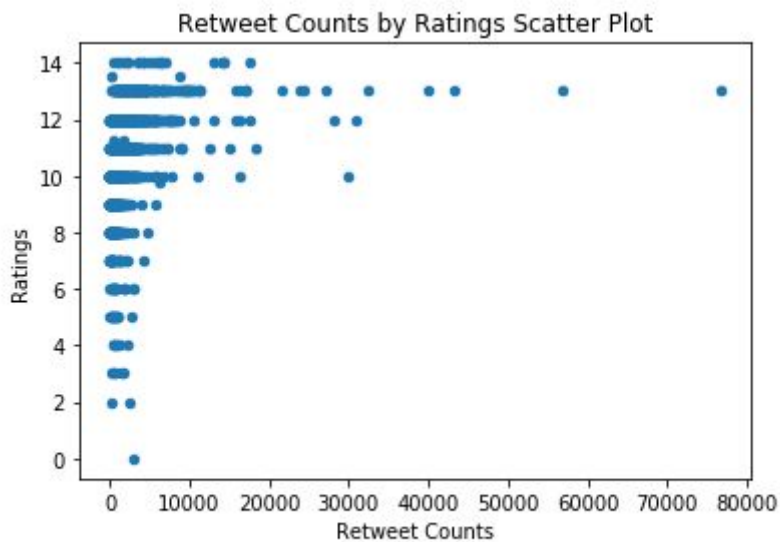

Who's the goodest boi?

Notice that one dot on the right all by itself? That is the goodest boi all them all according to our analysis. The Golden Retriever with a rating of 140 approximately and an average rating of 11.59, proving this doggo is really golden!

Average Rating of Dog Type by Number of Ratings of a Dog Type Scatter Plot

Retweets and Ratings

Though the count of retweets goes well over tens of thousands but that does not mean higher rating or conversely highly rated dogs are not virally retweeted.

Retweet Counts by Ratings Scatter Plot

All in all, they are all best bois!!!